

Thos. D. Roche Killed on Railroad Track Crows Nest Lake

Prospector and Trapper, Had Lived
There for 30 Years. Buried at Blairmore

"Accidental death with no blame attached to anyone" was the verdict of the jury investigating the death of Thomas D. Roche killed by a freight train two and one half miles east of Crows Nest, March 14, at the inquest presided over by coroner A. M. Morrison and jury, John Rushton, S. Moores, F. H. Graham, S. Chahley, A. Gentile and J. Poole, in the council chamber Saturday morning.

Mr. Roche was walking on the track near the Cave with his back to the oncoming train and owing to the numerous curves the train was on him before he became aware of it. He was hit by the buffer beam, being knocked five feet from the track and receiving fatal wounds.

Constables Foster and Fontaine gave a detailed account of their inspection of the buffer beam on the engine and the removal of the body to Crows Nest undertaking parlors in Coleman.

Dr. Borden stated he found a three inch lacerated wound on the left temple and a fractured skull, death being probably instantaneous.

A. Holyk, local merchant, stated Roche had been in his store on March 14 and conversation had been impossible owing to Roche being deaf.

G. A. James, conductor of the train, briefly told of being informed a man had been hit, of examining Roche and then sending for the police.

T. Thoreson, engineer, stated the train was travelling at 25 miles per hour, and owing to the numerous curves he blew the whistle repeatedly. He first glimpsed Roche three car-lengths ahead, his vision being obscured before that by a curve. He again blew the whistle and applied the emergency brakes. Roche partially turned but failed to get off the track. When examined by Mr. Thoreson he was still breathing but unconscious. He immediately started with S. H. Dobbs to Crows Nest for the police.

S. H. Dobbs, fireman, corroborated the engineer's evidence, stating brakeman D. Lynn stayed with the injured man while medical assistance and police were sent for.

Efforts to locate relatives of deceased had proved unavailing up till yesterday when the funeral was held, interment being made in the Catholic cemetery at Blairmore, old time friends acting as pall-bearers.

It is reported he had a sister, Mrs. O'Brien, living in Couer D'Alene, Idaho, though no answer has been received to enquiries.

PROPOSAL TO IMPROVE MAIN STREET WILL BE WELCOMED

The council has under consideration the surfacing of Main street, and subsequently other streets. First suggested about eight years ago, at last the council, which of the past two or three years has shown real action in public improvements has, it is reported, decided on spending money on road work which will be productive of benefit instead of wasting it by throwing on loads of gravel and rocks and then spending money in paying men to go over the same ground picking up the rocks. If reports be true, the business area will be toned up and the dust nuisance partly ameliorated by road surfacing.

The taxpayers will heartily endorse the wise expenditure of their money, though in past years they saw quite a lot of it spent in fruitless work. If a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing well, is a good thing to remember in public as well as private business affairs.

IMPROVED BUSINESS

Domestic and export production of motor cars by General Motors of Canada Limited, has been hitting a fast clip. At the end of February, according to a statement released by H. A. Brown, vice-president and general manager, production at the company's plant was more than double that of the same period last year. The figure was 10,738 automobiles as against 4,673 produced in the same period last year.

THE STORY OF

THE BAD CHEQUE (Hanna Herald)

As proof positive that social credit "tickets" will work in place of orthodox Canadian money, the story of the circulation of the bad cheque has been told time and again.

The cheque was issued to pay the grocer, who paid the butcher, who paid the tailor, who paid the plumber, who paid the milkman, who paid the feed store man, who paid the electrician, who paid his landlord, who paid his gardener, who paid the doctor.

Then it was found the cheque was N.S.F. But everyone had been paid and had made a profit, so each of the ten clipped in 5 per cent of the amount and everybody was happy ever after.

But cheques seldom travel that way. Usually they go from the debtor to the creditor, to the bank. If such a cheque is N.S.F., the person who accepts it is out 100 per cent—not 5 per cent. Also if everybody started issuing "rubber" cheques, the cheque method of paying for debts or for things would take out of fashion. No one would take them.

A cheque is accepted because the receiver believes the payee is good for that much money or credit. The system is built on confidence in the integrity and ability of the individual. When that confidence is lost then all virtue passes from the cheque-method of payment.

The same thing happens with bad money.

The Pincher Creek Echo, commenting on the enormous drain on the taxes by the Canadian National Railway, states: Public ownership has with one exception always been a costly experiment, and one of its chief weaknesses is that the party that promoted it will never acknowledge its mistakes. That would not be good politics. And so governments plunge in deeper and deeper to cover up the evidence of errors, and the taxpayers instead of receiving social service, pay—and-pay.

Coleman's First Salvation Army Officer Visits Old Friends Here

Major and Mrs. Acton Enjoy Stay Here and Tell of Their Six Years in Alaska

Coleman enjoyed a visit from Major Acton, divisional commander of the Salvation Army in Alberta, whose first appointment was in this town in 1915. He with Lieut. Mundy built the Army hall here, securing a building from the P. Burns Co. which stood in Frank. Since 1918, when he was moved from here, he has seen service in many places in Canada, has made two trips to England and for six years was in charge of the Army's work in Alaska, and of which he gave a most interesting lecture illustrated by slides in the United church.

Calling on The Journal, Major Acton in a very interesting chat stated as noticed quite an improvement in the town since he left it. He hoped that the Army's efforts here would meet with support, for he felt there was scope for its social service in the Pass town. The major's and his wife's enthusiasm for the ideals of the Salvation Army were forcibly demonstrated in their addresses here, Mrs. Acton taking a special meeting of the ladies.

Many people are still living here who knew Major Acton in his more youthful days, and were very pleased to again meet him. At the lecture on Alaska, Mr. James Fairhurst was chairman, and extended a warm welcome to the Major and Mrs. Acton.

DOES NOT FAVOR POLITICAL PARTY

Major Douglas: "You should try to organize the country so that it can be brought to bear upon any party which may happen to be in power, and not allow only with a party which you elect yourselves."

"How can you deal with this thing in such a way that the law cannot be changed against you? I feel that the most promising way of doing it is not to bother about electing members for parliament belonging to any particular party, favor, ticket or tag, but to go to every member of every parliament which exists at the present time and say 'We will make your life a misery unless you will keep on asking to have this monetary system put right.' If any sitting member is not willing to give such assurance, a new candidate should be nominated."

It will be noted that the first step in the campaign against poverty is the approaching of sitting members and not the nomination of new candidates or the creation of a new party. Douglas fears that by the creation of a new political party, or by supporting only one party, the forces of monetary reform may be isolated and even outlawed to the point where armed force may be used against them.

Premier Reid: "As the leader of a government responsible to the people of this province, I deeply appreciate the necessity for the expansion of purchasing power on the part of all of our people. No one is more desirous than myself that this should be done by the proper use of our social credit; and the responsibility of my position imposes upon me the obligation of being sure that any scheme I endorse is sane and workable. For these reasons I am most anxious to explore the possibilities of any system that may be put forward designed to achieve the desired objective."

MISCELLANEOUS

The Journal is pleased to receive renewal of subscription from another well-known former Coleman resident. Mrs. Mary Neil, of Kettle Valley, B.C. The old home town news is appreciated by people who have lived here, and in that connection a reader writing from Edmonton stated that getting the paper weekly was just as good as getting a letter, for it contained all the worthwhile news.

"Know the West," says the Denver Post. "Know Coleman," says The Journal, the second highest town in altitude in the Dominion of Canada, 4,403 feet above sea level, centre of the greatest bituminous coal bearing area in the Dominion, and the premier mining town of the Crows' Nest Pass.

Mr. O. E. S. Whiteside returned on Sunday from the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy held in Winnipeg, at which over 650 members were present. Many social functions were held in the Hotel Alexandra in connection with the gathering, which was the most successful in the history of the organization. Mr. Whiteside is a charter member of the Institute.

Enoch Williams, of Blairmore, addressed a public meeting in the theatre on Sunday evening on his visit to Russia as a delegate of the workers' council. Owing to so many conflicting reports of the Land of the Soviets, his address held great interest for the audience, and the speaker described much of interest experienced in his travels.

Tom Kose, who a year and a half ago returned with his wife and two children to their old home in York-shire, after about ten years residence in Canada, returned to Coleman on Thursday last. He will endeavor to secure employment here, and was apparently surprised to find there was an improvement in conditions compared to when he left here. His family are remaining "over there" for the present. Regarding the political situation in Great Britain, he believes Ramsay MacDonald will resign. Unemployment is still very prevalent in England.

Climax of The Season When "Jimmies" and "dillies" Don Skates---See Hockey as Never Played Before Past masters in manoeuvring on the steel blades, men who still carry the halo of past glories as hockey players above and below the average, heroes and "has-beens" and good sports all, will show their wares on Saturday night at 9.15 in the sudden death game for the "Allan Cup" —Jim Allan's).

A glimpse of the line-up will amplify the statement that never before and probably never again will there be such a distinguished galaxy of players on local ice and it will be a battle royal with the betting even.

So hectic will be the contest that as a safeguard Coroner Morrison and Dr. Borden will be medically examined before going on the ice to see they have sufficient padding around the joints to minimize injuries when coming in contact with the ice. Rooting will not be forbidden.

Take a look at the line-up, and you'll just hand out a quarter to the ticket-seller, glad of the chance to see such a game, and incidentally help a lot of boys and girls to go to the Baden-Powell Jamboree on Easter Monday.

Compulsory Military Training For Germany Regarded As Menace

London.—Seeking to evaluate its implications, the world over the weekend weighed Saturday's proclamation of Chancellor Adolf Hitler invoking compulsory military training and giving Germany a peace-time army semi-officially estimated at from 325,000 to 360,000 men.

The Times suggests the projected British visit of Sir John should be undertaken as planned. The Times said: "If Hitler's move is simply a rather crude method of asserting equality, then there is no irreparable harm done."

Hitler plans to apply conscription not only to the army, but to the navy and the new air force as well. He was quoted as saying in an interview with The London Daily Mail's correspondent at Munich, but he emphasized that "The German people want no war."

The interview was conducted while flying from Berlin to Munich to hold the first review of the German army on the new basis of universal service.

News from other European capitals follows:

Berlin.—Germany staged a huge military demonstration in memory of Great War dead. General von Blomberg, reichswar minister, reiterated Hitler's statement of Saturday that Germany wants peace.

At the military demonstration, Reichswehr minister, Field Marshal von Mackensen, von Blomberg, Prussian Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Admiral Erich Raeder publicly appeared upon a platform together for the first time, reviewing a parade unprecedented in post-war Germany. Former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm was present.

Paris.—Political circles held Germany's next move would be to repudiate naval stipulations of the Versailles treaty. Foreign Minister Pierre Laval proposes going to Moscow shortly, it was said, to tighten up Franco-Soviet relations in view of Hitler's hostility to eastern European mutual assistance pact.

All For Peace

Ramsay MacDonald Says White Paper Is A Document

London.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, tired and showing the ravages of the severe cold that has kept him abed the last week, returned to duty to authorize another denial of reports he is about to resign.

Nevertheless, rumors continued that the veteran leader's retirement is likely, with general reconstruction of the cabinet following.

The prime minister persisted at the cabinet session and struck out vigorously in defence of the "white paper" which he wrote to accompany increased estimates for British defence in 1935.

An old fighter for the cause of peace, the prime minister characterized the "white paper" as a "peace document."

"Peace is written on its forehead; peace is its concluding thought; peace is its purpose throughout."

Despite his physician's orders, MacDonald has been working very hard of late, and this has had its effect. His health is far from that robustness which he hoped last year's Canadian vacation would bring.

British House Votes Its Approval Of 1935 Naval Estimates

London.—The British House of Commons voted its approval, 158 to 40, of naval estimates for 1935 amounting to £60,050,000 ($291,843,600 at par), an increase of £3,500,000 over last year.

The vote came after Sir Bolton Eyres-McQuinn, first lord of the admiralty, expressed hope that principle of the Washington treaty in some manner could be perpetuated in order that navies of the great powers may continue regulated by international agreement.

Sir Bolton stressed Britain's desire to see the size of battleships, cruisers, and their respective guns reduced by joint agreement.

He announced preliminary conversations with other naval powers to prepare the ground for the ap-

Committee To Investigate

Will Suggest Means To Deal With Unemployment Among Veterans

Ottawa.—Unemployment in the ranks of ex-service men will be the subject of investigation by a committee which will recommend to Hon. D. M. Sutherland, minister of pensions and national health, the best means of dealing with this problem.

An order-in-council authorizing the inquiry was passed following representations made by the Canadian Legion.

The committee will consist of Hon. Justice J. D. Hyndman, Ottawa; Col. C. B. Price, Montreal, and W. B. Woods, Toronto.

The committee will carry out an investigation into existing facilities for provision of employment for ex-service men, for their care and maintenance while unemployed, and report with such recommendations as may be deemed advisable.

Ottawa.—The appointment of a committee to investigate the unemployment situation among ex-service men is highly gratifying, resulting as it does from representations made by the Canadian Legion for such action, said Brigadier General Alex. Ross, C.M.G., Dominion president of the legion here.

Want To Celebrate

Unemployed Of Edmonton Want Cash Donation For Jubilee Festivities

Edmonton.—Edmonton's unemployed want to celebrate the king's jubilee, but they must have the aid of the city's relief department to fulfill their desire.

A petition has been presented to the city council urging the unemployed be given a special gift of 50 cents for every relief recipient "to enable us to celebrate the king's jubilee."

The relief recipients were given $1 each as a Christmas gift and it was in cash. No action has been taken on the jubilee request.

Heavy Fines For Speeding

British Law Will Be Strictly Enforced In London

London.—The unwary motorist who exceeds 30 miles an hour in London's built-up areas is due for an unpleasant surprise.

Plainclothes policemen and policemen in cars will be used to trap speeding drivers. The patrols will cruise at 30 miles an hour. Anyone who overtakes the police car will be signalled to halt by a resounding gong. The penalty for a first offence will not exceed £20 (about $97) and for a second offence £50 (about $213).

Trade Mission To Far East

Montreal.—Over 100 Canadian business men are expected to sail from Montreal, October 5, for China, Japan and Manchukuo on a trade mission sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is co-operating. W. McE. Clarke, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said about 500 bookings have already been made. 2060.

Suspension Of Interest

Mayor McGeer Not Asking For Repudiation Of Vancouver's Obligation

Victoria.—"If the British Columbia government will give Vancouver the same kind of treatment as the province received from the national government, then we will be able to get by without default," Mayor G. G. McGeer told the private hills committee of the legislature.

The mayor was speaking to a proposal that Vancouver be given power to suspend for two years the payment of more than three per cent. interest on its bonds.

If the province would give the city an $800,000 grant as proposed in the report of Thomas Bradshaw, Toronto financial expert, there would be no need to cut the interest, the mayor said.

He declared the city was not asking power to make a final repudiation of its obligation, but merely a suspension which would enable it to get straight within two years.

R. H. Pooley, Unionist, Esquimalt, suggested Mr. McGeer approach the government to pay the excess interest above three per cent. and get by that way for one year. Then there would be no question about the city's credit in future borrowings.

"I'd be delighted, if they did that," said the mayor.

Trains Collide

Eleven Persons Injured When Freight And Passenger Trains Meet In Blinding Snow Storm

Caradoc, Ont.—Eleven persons were injured here when a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train and a freight train collided during a blinding snow storm.

Most seriously hurt was Engineer Malcolm D. McTaggart, of London, Ont., in charge of the westbound passenger train, who incurred back injuries in a leap from the locomotive cab when he saw a collision was inevitable.

The other ten suffered shock, cuts, in two cases minor fractures, but were able to continue to their destinations on the next train.

May Disband Cadet Schools

Committee Of London County Council Will Recommend Step

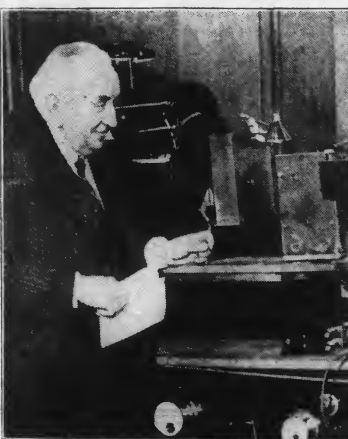

London.—The education committee of the London county council, of which Labor is now in control—has decided to recommend the council should disband the cadet corps in the secondary schools. The governors of schools which receive aid from the L.C.C. are also to be invited to fall in line.

This step was taken after an intensive debate. The committee held the training of the cadet corps possessed very little educational advantage and was inconsistent with the spirit of peace.

Supporting Fund

Ottawa.—The Mervin Asks, branch of the Canadian Legion advised the management of the King George V. Silver Jubilee Cancer fund that it was organizing a subscription list of every member of the legion in its zone with the object of raising money for the fund.

FRENCH SCIENTISTS SEE UNUSUAL DEMONSTRATION

Our picture shows Monsieur Lumiere demonstrating what is claimed to be the first practical system of stereoscopic film projection at the Academie des Sciences, Paris. The system is not new and M. Lumiere does not claim in any sense to have invented it. Hitherto, the glasses or screen used, have not contained exactly complementary colors, with the result that the eye quickly tired. M. Lumiere claims to have perfected the glasses so that it is possible to watch stereoscopic films with no strain on the eye.

VANCOUVER'S MAYOR

Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver who recently appeared before the private hills committee of the British Columbia Legislature to discuss a bill to amend Vancouver's city charter.

Insurance Interest Rates

Would Limit Interest On Loans To Policy Holders To Six Per Cent.

Ottawa.—Canadian insurance companies would be willing to have a clause inserted in the insurance act limiting interest they can charge on loans to policy holders to six per cent.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, representing the companies, made this announcement at the close of the sitting of the house committee on banking and commerce.

Companies at present charge six per cent. as a rule on loans on policies but in cases where the insured fails to pay his premium and an automatic loan has to be made to cover it, the practice has been to add an extra charge for expenses. This, in the case of one company, was an additional four per cent. In one of the large companies it was two per cent. Companies are prepared to forego any addition for expenses, Mr. Rowell said.

G. G. Coote (U.F.A., Macleod) has a bill asking parliament to fix rate at four per cent. The committee was considering this bill when Mr. Rowell made the announcement.

Demand For Cars

Production In Automobile Plants Shows Increase

Windsor, Ont.—Heavy increases in employment and production, ranging as high as 77 per cent. in the former and 100 per cent. in the latter for January and February of this year are reported by automotive companies in the Border Cities.

In some instances demand has been so heavy it has been impossible to build up cars for stock purposes. The peak of production is not expected to be reached until another month or so.

Awarded Damages

Calgary.—A jury awarded Fred A. Campbell of Beiseker, $24,585 damages against the Regal Oil and Refining Company of Calgary. Campbell was injured during an explosion at the Beiseker plant of the company and sued for $40,339 damages. He charged the company had been negligent.

Control Of Large Profits By Taxation Proposed By Hon. H. H. Stevens

Ottawa.—Control of profits in excess of an allowed maximum by taxation on a steeply graduated scale and distribution of the balance has been proposed by Hon. H. H. Stevens to the price proceeds commission.

In memoranda placed before the commission, it was learned the former minister of trade and commerce suggests "all profits of all corporations in excess of a datum quantity in each industry or commercial activity shall be divided into three parts: One-third going to the state, one-third going to the employees or workers in the undertaking (not including executives), and one-third going to the company."

Other suggestions of the former trade minister are:

Operation of dump duty provisions of the customs act in domestic trade, as is done with imports, so that where any article is sold at less than its fair market value in normal commercial practices the difference be assessed as a tax. The proposal is to put an end to special price cuts on quantity purchases by large buyers.

Stopping of all discounts, rebates or allowances in excess of five per cent. Five per cent. is suggested as being ample recognition of lower selling costs on large orders and also to compensate the big buyers for any preferred position with respect to credit.

Income tax regulations to force holding companies to pay income tax on earnings of individual units of their operations instead of upon a consolidated balance sheet.

All salaries of more than $10,000 yearly from companies be taxed as company earnings. A memorandum suggests the question has arisen if some companies are not using large salary payment in place of paying dividends so as to escape taxation.

Regulations for the financial set-up of corporations, including payment of dividends only out of profits; payment of stock premiums into capital and not profit account; limitation of stock issues to one common and one preferred; complete exposure of all reserves in balance and annual statements that will show the true position of a company.

New Series Of Stamps

Six Stamps To Commemorate Silver Jubilee Of King George

Ottawa.—Postmaster-General Arthur Sauve announced his department would commemorate the silver jubilee of King George's accession by issuing a special series of six stamps bearing new designs and portraits.

The denominations and subjects of the issue: One cent, green with a portrait of Princess Elizabeth; two cents, brown with a portrait of the Duke of York; three cents, red with portraits of the king and queen; five cents, blue with a portrait of the Prince of Wales; 10 cents, green with a view of Windsor Castle; 13 cents, blue with a view of the royal yacht "Britannia."

One, two- and five-cent denominations will be regular size stamps. The three-, 10- and 13-cent values will be double size.

Date of issue will be announced later.

Great War Financing

Canada Borrowed $1,447,138,538 For War Purposes

Ottawa.—From August, 1914, until the demobilization of the Canadian overseas military forces was completed, this country borrowed $1,447,138,538 for war purposes. Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes told H. E. Spencer (U.F.A., Battle River), in the House of Commons. All of this amount was borrowed in Canada.

Answering a further question the minister said $1,338,026,928 of bonds were issued free of taxation.

Ontario Premier Threatened

Toronto.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said he has received a threat to blow up his home and buildings in Elgin county before July 12. The premier said the letter was written in long-hand and mailed from St. Thomas. He turned the letter over to General Victor Williams, commissioner of provincial police.

Gold Reserve Of New Central Bank Will Be Above Requirements

Ottawa.—The Bank of Canada has a gold reserve of $106,584,355 according to its first statement.

The statement was of assets and liabilities at the end of the first three days operations. The gold reserve is that turned over by the department of finance and chartered banks. It also has silver bullion and sterling and United States funds, bringing total reserves up to $107,965,582.

Gold backing is well above statutory requirements for note circulation and deposits from the Dominion and from chartered banks which total $28,223,415. The statute requires a ratio of 25 to 100 whereas the ratio shown was 42.47 to 100.

All issue of notes backed by this gold reserve in future will be in hands of the Central Bank. During the last year the department of finance issued about $50,000,000 of new money to cover construction operations. This will not be possible in future. If the government wishes to put new money into such operations it must borrow it on securities.

Bank of Canada total paid up capital is $4,991,640, leaving a balance unpaid of $8,369. Delinquent shareholders will be given a month to pay the balances.

The bank already has Dominion government securities of $149,850,830, turned over to it by the department of finance to cover Dominion notes in circulation and the bank starts off with an income from interest on these securities. There were $185,000,000 in Dominion notes out when the bank started operation.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

EACH trying to call the other's bluff—Premierances from interference of Reid inviting Aberhart to formulate a Social Credit policy for Alberta—Aberhart writing to the premier making various stipulations before he will accept the invitation.

SOCIAL Credit and religion are becoming badly mixed in Aberhart's broadcasts, but sufficient people contribute enough cash to keep the air resounding with his deep bass voice in waves of crescendo and diminuendo as he hurls darts of sarcasm and derision at those who persistently ask: "Where's all the money coming from?"

COMMUNISTS taking a hand in the discussion and George Palmer, the martyr of tar and feathers, waging in a letter to the Press that Aberhart will never go to Edmonton on Premier Reid's invitation because he hasn't a policy.

THE Douglasites regret that Mr. Aberhart with his sincere desire to help the people of the province should have so sadly misinterpreted Social Credit, and are hoping that with the arrival of Major Douglas difficulties will be smoothed out and the strength of REAL Douglas support clearly shown.

OF course, people hate to have their minds influenced against something they wish to believe, for the promise of $25 monthly has sunk deeply into their consciousness; to such an extent that you are treated as an enemy if you dare disagree or ask for something more definite than non-negotiable certificates on which to base business transactions. Meanwhile the battle rages merrily; constituency conventions are being arranged; Aberhart is calling in vociferous tones for a hundred honest men; regretting that he cannot discover them in this fair province of Alberta, and in the next breath thanking God for such a fine lot of people. Alberta certainly has a fine dish for its political digestion.

MEANWHILE, what are the voters in Rocky Mountain constituency doing? Geo. Cruickshank, the present member, has not been active in this end of the Pass; if any political conferences have been held they must have been hidden under a bushel, after your own business. If for neither Grit or Tory has yet blazoned forth as a standard-bearer. Line party supporters are apparently sitting on the fence waiting—wait! Not much comes to the who waits in political or any other kind of warfare. Forces are so badly split in the entire province that forceful leadership is required to knit together public opinion in support of a policy that is not based on idealism but on practical things. Will that leadership lead Alberta out of the morass of conflicting suggestions which have added people's minds.

RADIO listeners have been subjected to many annoyances from interference of amateur broadcasters, power lines and conflicting wavelengths. So acute has it become that an attempt to collect licences will meet with serious opposition unless the trouble is eliminated. For several months the Canadian Radio Commission programs could not be heard in this district. The $2.00 tax is a rank imposition on poor people's entertainment, especially if you get nothing for it in the way of service or programs.

PREMIER Bennett, conscientiously endeavoring to solve Canada's problems, taxes his energies till Nature calls a halt and forces him to take complete rest. Political supporters and opponents hasten with sympathetic messages; in fact so marked are the solicitations that one is reminded of the fact that you get more sympathy dead than alive. Not that it is inferred Premier Bennett is dead, far from it; for even political foes, if they're fair, admit he has been very much alive in serving his country and the chances are he will for many years to come.

EX-PREMIER Venizelos of Greece has exiled himself on Italian territory. There is tragedy in his exit from the national life of his country. Premier ten times, instrumental in forcing the pro-German King Constantine from the throne of Greece, and in that country's decision to join the Allies in the Great War, he resented attempts which he considered were being made to restore the monarchists to power in the country he had labored long and hard to give a republican form of government. What ever may be the inside story of the rebellion, Venizelos will be remembered as a staunch friend of the Allies in critical days.

WHEN a cause meets with success, there's plenty to climb on the band-wagon and beat the tom-toms. Democracy prides itself on freedom of action and government responsible to the people, of and by the people, but 90 percent of the people are led.

"THE Willing Horse is worked the most." If you're not careful you'll be loaded with so many jobs that no time will be left to look after your own business. If every business man would take a share of the many gradar jobs that should be shared, it wouldn't be so bad. As it is a few sacrifice a great deal of time for the good of the who waits in political or any other kind of warfare. Forces are so badly split in the entire sit and wait for the cherries and the Board of Trade committee. Some want to gather at least do a little contribute the harvest without planting. But do they? Ask the any seed. They just pay what Community hall committee they have to, and would escape that if they could.

EACH year one automobile, because of its unusually attractive appearance, stands apart from its fellows. For 1935, that car is Pontiac.

Look at it! Smart, solid steel, "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher. Roomy—richly appointed. And the engine! A typical Pontiac power plant—quiet, efficient, ruggedly built, and economical.

Many important new features add to pride of ownership and general satisfaction. More striking still, though, is price. The new Six is marked right down to the low-priced class. The Eight costs far less than you would reasonably expect to pay for similar quality.

We cannot exaggerate the value General Motors has built into these automobiles. However, if with an open mind you seek a new car, we suggest that, at least, you look at Pontiac, and compare it. People are finding out that comparison serves to emphasize Pontiac's value. The number of new Pontiacs already on the road is endorsement of this statement.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman McAuley recently entertained the Badminton Club at Star Creek ranch, and on Friday last a number of ladies from town were guests at a bridge party.

Five Coleman hockey supporters were driving home from Edmonton. At Ponoka they stopped for gas for the car and themselves. After driving a short distance the road appeared unfamiliar, so they asked the first person they met if they were on the road to Calgary. "No, this is the road to the asylum," was the reply. "Well, just keep on going," dreamily exclaimed one of the five.

It would help to a better understanding if we agreed as to what is meant by the words capitalism and capitalist. The Oxford dictionary defines the former as the possessor of capital. The man who owns a farm or a business or who derives an income from wages, salary or investment is a capitalist and a product of capitalism. Some of the denunciation of capitalism comes therefore from persons who are themselves capitalists.—High River Times.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Sir Frederick Banting, professor of medical research at the Toronto University, has been elected to the fellowship of the Royal Society of England. It was announced recently. A government revenue return revealed millionaires in the United Kingdom numbered 462 in the fiscal year 1932-33, which is 82 fewer than the previous year.

Twenty-five men will be added to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Force in Manitoba, it is announced. Development in northern mining areas has opened new territory the present force cannot cover.

The Indian princes will accept the India constitution bill, it was reliably understood, following a conference between the influential Maharajah of Patiala and the Earl of Willington, viceroy of India.

Proclamations will be posted in every post office in Canada proclaiming May 6, public day, a public holiday, it was announced. The king's proclamation has been sent out from secretary of state department.

The bank of Canada revealed it would issue a special $25 bill to commemorate the 25th anniversary of King George's accession to the throne. The government already has announced issue of a silver dollar.

The first Indian citizen to become a full-fledged lawyer in Canada has pleaded his first case in the superior court. The lawyer is Norman Saylor, a resident of the Indian reservation of Caughnawaga, a short distance from Montreal.

Maria Rasputin, daughter of the monk who exerted so powerful an influence on the Russian court until slain by outraged Imperialists, arrived at New York. The liner Bremen to join the Hagenback-Wallace circus as an animal trainer.

From 1921 to 1934, both years inclusive, the senate rejected exactly 50 bills sent to it with the approval of the House of Commons, a return tabled in the commons said. In the years 1931 and 1932 there were no rejections.

GARDENING

Gordon L. Smith

Dig—Dig—Dig
Cultivation is even more important than good soil or fertilizer. A constantly cultivated garden, with stand much drought for the simple reason that this stirring of the top soil prevents evaporation of moisture, and it also keeps down those robbers of plant food and water, weeds. The mechanical texture of heavy clay can be remedied by good cultivation. Cultivation is necessary especially during the early part of the season and more particularly after each shower. With the use of the many hand, horse or tractor drawn garden cultivators on the market, this task is done quickly and without the old time back-ache.

Killing Out
Most damage to shrubbery, perennial flowers, roses, strawberry patches, fall wheat and other plants occurs during March or April. It is not the extreme cold of January and February that causes the trouble, but the alternate freezing and thawing and the drying winds of early spring. On fine days things start to grow and the sap comes up the roots, but at night frost returns and injury results. Crowns, and stems are burst, fruit buds freeze and grass and other perennial plants heaved out of the soil, their roots broken and exposed to the high drying winds. Protection in the form of snow, straw, leaves, or old vegetable refuse, is advisable at this time and is especially necessary in Southern exposures where the difference between midnight and noon temperatures is much more extreme than elsewhere. This protection must stay on until the dangerous period is passed and then removed gradually, if left on too long, however, growth is spindly and backward.

A Short Cut
Good sized potatoes by early July can be produced in most parts of Canada, and this is the time the crop is really appreciated and worth some money. As soon as the ground works up nicely, a small planter may be risked. To further hurry things along, for two or three weeks before clearing the soil, spread the seed potatoes out in some frost proof place where they will get as much sun as possible through the window. Soon, healthy, stout sprouts will appear and if planted carefully, so as to avoid breaking off, the crop will be through the ground in a day or two.

Aged Explorer Dies

Cape Grant In Franz-Josef Land Named After English Adventurer
Death ended the suffering recently at Devon, England, of the 84-year-old explorer and big game hunter, W. J. A. Grant, who a year ago entertained at a "swan dance" to celebrate his then momentarily expected end.

Grant, who almost daily since prayed he might die, and had asked doctors to put him painlessly to sleep and been refused, died quietly. He suffered heart trouble and a complication of ailments.

Grant publicly advocated the practice of euthanasia by physicians, saying "take my own case. I am no use to anybody. I should be only too happy to be given a double dose of sleeping draught."

Months ago Grant instructed his mourners to "wear your gayest clothes, don't come in the miserable garb of woe."

He left a last message in which he said: "Good health is the most important thing in the world and is a greater good than the north pole. I tried to reach both and failed, although my grip was only by a few inches each time."

Cape Grant in Franz-Josef Land is named for Grant. He invited 500 friends throughout England to his champagne supper and all-night party in January, 1934, to celebrate his expected death and his name, including a bevy of beautiful dancing girls. But after two hours of sleep Grant arose to say he felt fine.

Little Journeys In Science

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

HYDROCARBONS

Scientists have found that the element carbon forms a larger number of chemical compounds than does any other element. At the present time over 300,000 compounds containing carbon have been discovered and every year new ones are being made in research laboratories. This vast number is due to the fact that carbon possesses the property of combining with certain elements in a number of different proportions, thus forming many different compounds with the same element. For example, carbon combines with the element hydrogen to produce nearly three hundred different compounds. These compounds containing only carbon and hydrogen are known as hydrocarbons.

Some hydrocarbons are gases, others are liquids, and still others are solids. Many of them are of great commercial importance. Certain hydrocarbons mixed in varying proportions make up such valuable materials as natural gas, gasoline, coal oil, lubricating oils, kerosene, and paraffin. Others serve as the raw material from which are made many of our most valuable dyes, drugs, and explosives.

Since there are so many hydrocarbons they are classified into groups or series. One of the most important of these is the methane series. The members of this series are often known as paraffin hydrocarbons, because ordinary paraffin is a mixture of the solid members of the series.

Methane or marsh-gas is the first member of the methane series of hydrocarbons. It is the chief constituent of natural gas and is often formed in marshes by the decay of vegetable matter under water. Methane sometimes collects in mines, and when mixed with air is called "fire damp" by the miners because of its great inflammability. "Damp" is an old name for gas. If such a mixture is ignited a very disastrous explosion occurs.

GET RID OF THE CROWS

(By JACK MINER)

A great deal has been said about the crows' diet, so let me add my testimony. Crows will eat almost anything. Yes, and all about everything. I have had enough pet crows to find this out. But shelled corn will kill young crows about as quickly as any diet you can feed them. If you have a young one and are anxious to raise him, feed custard, one hen's egg to half a cup of milk (no sugar) and just watch him grow. I have fed them chopped up smokes and they always cawed for more smokes. Old crows will graze just as well as chickens. During the winter in this section of the country their chief diet is corn, but if they can find carion that is what will tickle their palates most.

A great deal has been said about the crows' diet, so let me add to the value of the crows, let me tell you this. A crow will do no more good on the farm than a leghorn chicken that will lay a dollar's worth of eggs a month, and as for the grasshoppers the crows destroy, let me advise you to increase until the crows are decreased. Saying nothing about the game birds destroyed by eating their eggs, I honestly believe, especially in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, that by taking the ducks and geese the cause of a decrease of ducks more than the hunter and his gun. In Manitoba crows are so thick that I saw them nesting on the telephone wires. This starling, naked fact is what caused me to study crows so much during the last five years. To reduce them by shooting campaigns has proven a failure. Thousands of men are trying that, and in spite of their many varieties of decoys, the crows are increasing. Here is where my life's study of them helped me out, for I know how to shoot a little crow, and I can make them. At last the idea of catching them presented itself to me. I tried it and it cost me results. More study increased my faith until I simply had to try it out.

Since I had to try it out, I tried it. I got caught up in it. Art Brown, one of our Kingsville fishermen, and he agreed to let me have a truck full of fish. I had heads, scales and entrails, providing I got them off the dock before the health officers put him or so and was about all set for crow bait. Then I built the net on the same principle as I had built the net to catch and tag geese, but much smaller, the exact dimensions being six feet high, 12 feet wide and 10 feet long. I started building the net on a Thursday and finished it Saturday, doing practically all the work myself. And on the following Tuesday I caught 510 crows at one catch. While there may be dozens of other ways to control crows, yet I do know this method, if put into practice, would soon reduce their numbers to the same proportion as the other birds.

About the only fault I have heard about my crow net is that it is almost impossible to use. The net must be a Scotch complaint, for I know two young men that built a net as large as mine and to use it cost them seven dollars. Of course, this one was built of junk material, much of it poles from the woods and old fish netting, but it caught the crows just the same. To build a net net as large as mine and to use it cost them seven dollars. Of course, this one was built of junk material, much of it poles from the woods and old fish netting, but it caught the crows just the same. To build a net net as large as mine and to use it cost them seven dollars. Of course, this one was built of junk material, much of it poles from the woods and old fish netting, but it caught the crows just the same.

The big thing to make the net most successful is the attention given to it. That is keeping it well baited. We bait for two or three days outside of the net and then, when we have a thousand crows in the net, we draw the bait under the net. Of course, we never allow anyone near except toward evening, when the crows have gone to roost, at which time we take the bait out. I understand indirectly that some parties have built nets but had little success. I think this was largely caused by failure to bait the crows enough outside of the net to get them coming before the bait was moved under the net. Again, I have made all my big catches mostly during the winter, when the snow was on the ground, and all the old ears of corn in the open fields were covered with snow, and thus the crows were unable to find the bait. During the last three winters we have caught thousands of them in this one net and have made as high as two catches in one day. But this happens very seldom because after they get a medical service, that are not caught two or three days to get over it. So, usually, after we make a catch, we bait well outside the net for two or three days.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
MARCH 24
PETER DESCRIBES THE CHRISTIAN LIFE
Golden text: Sanctify in your hearts Christ as Lord. I. Peter 3:15. Lesson: I. Peter 3:8-18. Devotional reading: II. Peter 1:1-8.

Explanations And Comments
Love Makes One Thoughtful of others verses 8-12. Peter bids all be likened, of one mind, of one heart, of one voice, of one will, of one feeling, of one opinion. "This oneness of mind does not demand the monotony of similarity, but unity in variety. Not the oneness of a brick, or a pile of bricks; but the house, in which so many different materials and contrivances combine to shelter the human family. We shall never be of one mind in the sense of all holding the same opinion; but we may be all of one mind when, beneath diversities of opinion, expression, and view, we are animated by a common devotion to Christ" (F. B. Meyer).

Peter counsels his readers to be of one mind, of one heart, of one voice, of one will, of one feeling, of one opinion, of one faith, and of one love. He says: "Be ye all of one mind, of one heart, of one voice, of one will, of one feeling, of one opinion, of one faith, and of one love." This is the Christian ideal, as it is also that which our Lord died to secure. And it would well become us, if, without waiting for others, each one would adopt the injunctions of these verses as the binding rule and regulation of daily life." (F. B. Meyer).

A Plausible Story
Flea Was Responsible For Founding Of Overseas Empire
A flea was the granddaddy of the British Empire we are told by Dr. Thomas W. M. Cameron. From his Institute of parasitology at Macdonald College, Quebec, he tells a plausible story, contrary to the usual cause of the black death in Europe. This ruined English agriculture and shifted it into sheep growing. This made wool and broadcloth England's staple products and led to the necessity of finding foreign markets. This led in turn to the founding of the overseas empire.

A scientist says that it is the lower part of the face and not the eyes that give away one's thoughts. In that case the cautious person should keep the lower part of his face closed as much as possible.

The milk industry may yet use aeroplanes to transport its product to city markets, predicts one agricultural economist.

Costs To University Of Alberta Amounted To $50,051

Full costs of the Powlett "hazing" action against the University of Alberta amounted to $50,051, it was revealed in a detailed statement brought down in the legislature. The case followed confinement in mental hospitals of a student allegedly as the result of initiation brutality at the university.

Of the whole sum, the province is liable for a total of $48,701, while $1,350 was paid by the students medical services.

The amount payable to the Powlett family on passage of the estimates for the fiscal year 1935-36 is $28,228, made up of a judgment for $20,000 and costs of $8,228.

FROM GIRL TO WOMAN

Mrs. N. W. Vary of 47 Birch St., Woodstock, Ont., said: "When I was growing into womanhood, I would have been very happy to have a book like this. Another War Weapon

A German inventor, Herr Keilhaus, has offered the French government a new weapon which would deprive armed forces on land, at sea, and in the air of the power of sight. This weapon can project 1,000,000 candle-power flashes, capable of blinding anyone within its radius. Experiments were carried out on cattle half a mile distant. The beasts dropped senseless.

OLD PEOPLE FEEL YOUNG

Just because more years than you care to count have fled by on your life's calendar is no reason for feeling old. Age, after all, isn't a matter of years. It is a matter of health. Stay vigorous and you stay young. But how you ask. Do the way thousands of people of advancing years do. Take Vincarnin regularly. Vincarnin is a natural product, free from drugs, that brings you all the valuable elements of grapes combined with the highest quality of scientific guaranteed malt extract. Its invigorating effect is almost magical—yet perfectly natural.

These valuable elements in Vincarnin give your aging system exactly the stimulating and invigorating it requires. They soothe your nerves, enrich your blood, and flood your whole body with the most youthful buoyancy and vigor.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

Again Stone nodded.

"And that means, of course," said Carr moodily, "that Dustin can ruin Joe. Joe's past sixty right now. He only knows cattle. This is his last state. You know Edith is right good. If she ever gets the idea into her red-head that by marrying Dustin, she can save her father, she's damned likely to do it. She'd even marry that dirty hound Dustin to save Joe."

"You forget one thing... two things... That one may be what I fear it is..."

"I'll take a year to get even a hundred per cent mine to workin'," said Carr. "There'll be a lawsuit first over it."

"We'll find that man Kane," said Stone confidently. "And, too, Gerald Keene'll be in to-morrow night. Something'll turn up."

"By heavens, that's so. If this Gerald Keene is like his uncle, he'll never see old Joe shoved to the wall. I'm goin' in to see to meet him to-morrow. I've got to go to the bank to try to raise money for our payroll... Nine hundred dollars. You better go with me."

"I'd like to see you stop me. I'm for the bunkhouse now." And Stone strode back toward the house.

Halfway to the bunk-house he was stopped by Edith. For a moment she regarded him wordlessly. Her lips were unsmiling, but there was a light in her eyes that he had never seen but once.

"What has happened?" she asked breathlessly.

"Not much. I told Jameson of the Seco paper about the ore and he will have Buxton give an expert opinion on it. The most important thing is that he's tryin' to find Kane."

"That can't help much," she said. "My one hope is in Daddy's new partner, Mr. Keene. He may be able to help us if he will. Do you know what that beast Dustin said to Daddy...?" She told him pretty much what Carr had already said.

"Of course he wants to marry you," he said curtly. "Who in his senses wouldn't?... And at a sudden light in his eyes, he gave back a little and her laugh was a little strained. "The fool... The utter fool to think that he can buy a girl like you..."

"What do you mean by that? Buy me?"

For one brief minute he could not decide whether to tell her or not... Then he told. Her eyes widened as she listened and when he stopped, she laid a hand gently on his arm.

"I'm glad you told me this," she said quickly. "I knew Daddy had borrowed some money but I did not know from whom he got it..."

"Your father doesn't yet know that Dustin holds the note," he said. "You'd better not tell him that yet. Wait till Keene gets here."

"I will be careful. I am glad to know the worst at least... I know at least where the thunder will come from."

"You will not even consider marrying that man Dustin, will you?"

"Would you drink poison if you were thirsty and if you knew it was poison?" she countered. "Good night! But her eyes told him untellable things."

Carr drew him aside after dinner the next day.

"Darn it all," he said. "Old Joe insists on goin' in to see with us. I tried to head him off. If he goes to the bank to get the money for the payroll, he may find out about that note. It's sure to come up. If he finds that Pegram sold his note to Dustin, he'll likely go on the prod."

Even Edith could not keep her father at home. During that drive he was cranky and querulous, and Stone sensed fight.

"Go straight to the bank..." Carr's usually pleasant voice was a snarl.

Stone headed the car for the bank and stopped under a tree and Carr, with Carrs at his heels, strode into the bank. Peters, seeing them enter, ducked into his cage, and old Pegram, his face flushed to a dusky tone, dived like a rabbit for his private office. The next moment Joe Carr burst into the room. A sudden babel of raised voices swung out of the empty bank.

"Good Lord," muttered Stone. "The fat's probably in the fire by now. I wonder if I had better have told him about that note of his that Dustin holds."

He was dimly aware that the centre of the trouble had drifted into Pegram's private office. One or two men in the street, hearing the voices raised in anger, stopped, glanced significantly and went on up the street. It was no new thing in Seco to have a sudden war start in Pegram's office. Suddenly old Joe Carr shot out of the place. His very beard was curling with wrath and his eyes were blazing. He stumbled into the car and Carr pitched in beside him.

"Take it easy, Joe," he said in a low tone. "No need to let all Seco know your affairs. Take it easy, I tell you. Did you get the cash for the payroll?"

"Oh, that! Yes. I got that on a thirty-day note for fifteen per cent..." He laughed mirthlessly. "Do you know what that damned dog Pegram has done?" he said in a low, tense tone. "He held my note for eleven thousand secured by the bank of the Hour-glass. Damned if he hasn't sold the note..."

Dustin, of all men! That's why that damned cur had the nerve to come to me to tell me he wants to marry Edith."

His face suffused with blood and his breath drew hard.

"... I told Pegram I'd settle that note up on time."

"... So I will, just as soon as I can make arrangements with Gerald Keene, my partner. Damn it all!

He'll buy the ranch from me if I say the word. How do I know? Hell, man! Isn't this Gerald Keene old Peter Vinton's kin? Wouldn't I have done the same for old Peter?"

And Frank Carr, who knew that Joe was speaking the plain, unvarnished truth, said nothing. Carr snatched out his watch and glanced at it.

"We've got time to get a drink at the Silver Dollar before we meet the train," he snapped.

"We don't want anything to drink," expostulated Stone. "It's late now. The only reason you got into the bank was because it's open after hours."

Carr glared at him. For an employee to give him any back-talk was unheard of by... He reflected that this man Stone was a close friend of this Gerald Keene, and this man Keene was an unknown quantity.

"You go to hell, son," he said with heavy pique. "You do as you're told. Drive to the Silver Dollar."

Stone glanced at Carr and a quick nod reassured him. He stopped the car before the Silver Dollar and stayed in the car while Carr, with Carr behind him, entered the place. A moment later a hand was laid on his arm and Jameson stopped by him.

"I got some news for you, Stone," he said briefly. "I took that ore to Buxton. He's about crazy over it. He's says it's 'ham boiled in champagne.' You know what an assayer means when he says that. He kept at me for an hour askin' where it came from and if there's much of it. I stalled him off. By the way..."

He told him that big sample get covered with blood?"

"Big sample?" Stone stared at him. "Blood?" "What are you talking about, Jameson?"

"The 'askin' about that biggest sample that you brought in. You had it in your coat pocket. Did you have a fight?"

"No. I don't understand. I seem to remember that I did notice a dark stain on it when I picked it up..." By the way, I got that ore specimen from the place where the camp-fire was. That's probably where the blood came from. Have you succeeded in finding old man Kane yet?"

"No. No one has seen him for some time. They tell me he was being grub-staked by Dustin at the Broken Spur. That's what you said, too. I may have to see Dustin. It's barely possible that that old fool Pegram may be able to give us some information about Kane. I saw him heading for the station a while ago. He's all hopped up, as usual. I reckon I'd better wait till he gets a clear head before I tackle him for straight talk."

Canada's Home Markets

Canada's home markets absorb approximately 85 per cent of Canadian farm produce according to Dominion government estimates. The home market has come to be almost the sole outlet for animal products, with the exception of bacon, and there are only three products—wheat, apples, and cheese—of which more than 50 per cent is exported.

Approximately $500,000,000 worth of old gold was brought to light in England's recent search for the precious metal.

It was also announced a special prayer had been written for the occasion by the Archbishop of Canterbury and would be said in all English churches.

Text of prayer: "It is very meet, right, and our bounden duty, that we should give thanks unto Thee, O Lord, holy Father, almighty, overruling God, for that Thou wast pleased, as on this day, to set Thy servant, our sovereign Lord, King George, upon the throne of this realm and hath profited him, in days of sickness and of health, throughout his reign of five and twenty years. For the example of unceasing service set by him and our gracious Queen Mary, for the loyalty borne to him by the great family of peoples and in all parts of the world, we magnify Thy glorious name."

Bank Borrowers

Financial Institutions Were Heaviest Borrowers In 1934 From Chartered Banks

Financial institutions and operators were the heaviest borrowers from chartered banks of Canada, according to a statutory return as on Oct. 31, 1934, made public by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

Total loans to financial houses, including brokers' and bond dealers' call loans, trust, mortgage and investment house loans, and loans to individuals against approved stocks and bonds, totalled $275,987,450.

The mining industry was the lowest borrower, with $4,632,120. Total loans of all classifications on that date were $1,149,708,830.

Agriculture ran second to finance in the classification, borrowing $214,745,049, of which $64,228,743 went to farmers, cattle raisers and fruit growers, and $150,515,305 to grain dealers and exporters and seed merchants.

Do right, and God's recompense to you will be the spirit of giving more. Give, and God's reward to you will be the spirit of giving more, a blessed spirit for it is the spirit of God himself, whose life is the blessedness of giving. "Therefore my beloved brethren be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord. I. Corinthians 15:58.

Say not, 'twas all in vain. The anguish and the darkness and the strife! Love thrown upon the waters comes again.

In quinquennial yearnings for a nobler life.

Did you ever hear of a man who had striven all his life faithfully and singly toward an object and in no measure obtained it? If a man constantly aspires, is he not elevated?

Did ever a man try truth, heroism, sincerity of magnanimity, and find there was no advantage in them, or that it was a vain endeavor?

Do right, and God's recompense to you will be the spirit of giving more. Give, and God's reward to you will be the spirit of giving more, a blessed spirit for it is the spirit of God himself, whose life is the blessedness of giving.
